

Bachelor Questionnaire

Jonas Retz — Tilburg University — 2026

Consent

Dear Participant, welcome to this experiment, thank you for being here. Please read the following part carefully. You have shown interest in a scientific research project of the Department of Cognitive Science and Artificial Intelligence of Tilburg University's School of Humanities and Digital Sciences.

■ Yes, I agree to participate

Demographics

What is your gender?

What is your age?

Participant Number

Please enter your Participant number (e.g. 11), which was given to you at the start.

Moral Attitudes and Commitments — Relevance (mac_relevance)

When you decide whether something is right or wrong, to what extent are the following considerations relevant to your thinking? (0–100 slider scale)

1. Family: valuing relatives and caring for families
2. Fairness: resolving conflicts by sharing resources equally or according to merit
3. Loyalty: valuing mutualism and coordination with others
4. Deference: valuing social status and respecting authority
5. Heroism: valuing conflict resolution through impressive acts
6. Reciprocity: valuing social exchange and mutual benefit
7. Property: valuing and respecting others' belongings

Moral Attitudes and Commitments — Judgement (mac_judgement)

To what extent do you agree with the following statements? (0–100 slider scale)

Moral Identity — Pre-game (identity_questions)

Please indicate how much you agree with the following statements about yourself. (0–100 slider scale)

1. I am very loyal to my family.
2. I am the kind of person who puts my family first when they need me.
3. I am the kind of person who looks out for others in my community or social groups.

4. I feel a strong sense of responsibility toward the groups I belong to (e.g., my friends, neighbourhood, or country).
5. I am an honest person.
6. I do my best to keep my promises, even when it is inconvenient for me.
7. If someone trusts me, I am the kind of person who does everything I can not to betray that trust.
8. I am the kind of person who admits it when I have done something wrong.
9. I am a courageous person.
10. I am the kind of person who is willing to take personal risks to protect others or stand up for what I believe is right.
11. I am the kind of person who respects legitimate authority (for example, teachers, supervisors, or people in charge).
12. I think it is important to show respect for my community or country in public situations.
13. I am the kind of person who tries to make sure situations are fair for everyone involved, not just for me.
14. I am the kind of person who feels uncomfortable when I benefit from something that is unfair to others.
15. I am the kind of person who respects other people's property and belongings.
16. I am the kind of person who would return money or valuables that are not mine, even if I could keep them without anyone knowing.
17. I am the kind of person who tries to let go of revenge, even when I feel wronged.
18. When someone hurts me, I would rather repair the relationship than get even.

Game Instruction

Play the 'Great Fire' game now, which you can find on your desktop. Leave this questionnaire open as it is and continue with the next questions once you have finished playing the game.

Embodiment and Identification — Post-game (Q145)

Please indicate how much you agree with the following statements about yourself. (0–100 slider scale)

1. I felt like I was the main character while making decisions in the game.
2. While playing, I made decisions as if I were really in that situation.
3. I identified strongly with the main character.
4. The main character is similar to me as a person.
5. I felt that my real self is similar to the main character.
6. The decisions I made in the game were consistent with my real-life values.
7. I behaved in the game as I usually would in real life.
8. I sometimes made choices in the game that surprised me about myself.
9. Playing the game made me act differently than I normally would.
10. I felt morally conflicted about some of the decisions I made.
11. I regret some of the decisions I made in the game.

Moral Identity — Post-game (Q158)

Please indicate how much you agree with the following statements about yourself. (0–100 slider scale)

1. I am very loyal to my family.
2. I am the kind of person who puts my family first when they need me.
3. I am the kind of person who looks out for others in my community or social groups.
4. I feel a strong sense of responsibility toward the groups I belong to (e.g., my friends, neighbourhood, or country).
5. I am an honest person.
6. I do my best to keep my promises, even when it is inconvenient for me.
7. If someone trusts me, I am the kind of person who does everything I can not to betray that trust.
8. I am the kind of person who admits it when I have done something wrong.
9. I am a courageous person.
10. I am the kind of person who is willing to take personal risks to protect others or stand up for what I believe is right.
11. I am the kind of person who respects legitimate authority (for example, teachers, supervisors, or people in charge).
12. I think it is important to show respect for my community or country in public situations.
13. I am the kind of person who tries to make sure situations are fair for everyone involved, not just for me.
14. I am the kind of person who feels uncomfortable when I benefit from something that is unfair to others.
15. I am the kind of person who respects other people's property and belongings.
16. I am the kind of person who would return money or valuables that are not mine, even if I could keep them without anyone knowing.
17. I am the kind of person who tries to let go of revenge, even when I feel wronged.
18. When someone hurts me, I would rather repair the relationship than get even.

Debriefing

You have participated in research from Tilburg University. During this experiment, you played an interactive narrative game and filled in surveys. If you have any questions, please contact the researcher: Jonas Retz (j.retz@tilburguniversity.edu).